

KC Honors Championship Corinth Five

Corinth — Corinth Central School's victorious basketball team the Tomahawks were feted at a supper tendered them by the local Knights of Columbus at the K of C Hall, Sunday night. William Burmester, Grand Knight, welcomed the honored guests, also Mayor and Mrs. Harry Waring; toastmaster R. P. Beaudette and Mrs. Beaudette; the Rev. Edward Whelley (Chaplain of the K of C); District Deputy and Mrs. Norman LeClerc; Coach Robert Duval and Mrs. Duval; Mr. and Mrs. George Spieldenner; Mr. and Mrs. Gary Young; Supervising Principal and Mrs. Ronald Folts; High School Principal and Mrs. Thomas Palmatier; Lewis Bartlett, vicepresident of the Corinth School Board; Miss Betty Pederson, Miss Joan Fenton and Mr. and Mrs. John Manley. The speaker was Thomas Hanon, coach at St. Peter's Academy who gave an interesting talk on his own personal experiences in school sports and the close relationship of sports and good character. He emphasized that students should try to excel not only in sports, but in their studies as well, since sport excellence could get them into college, but only studious work can pass them. The surprise of the evening was the presentation of a trophy to each of the varsity ball players and Coach Duval from the EMBA by Jack Manley, EMBA sports director, who called them "his boys." The hall was attractively decorated in orange and black with a front panel depicting the basketball team. The floral centerpiece featured orange carnations surrounding a large basketball with the teams names and small miniature basketball with each players number. The committee in charge of the successful event were chairman B. Albert Steel and Mrs. Steel; Mr. and Mrs. James Carney, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bencivena, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Moses, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Turcotte, Mr. and Mrs. William Cromie and Mrs. Elizabeth Wilkins.

OUTSTANDING AIRMAN OF 1963 — Colonel John A. Carey, left, vicecommander of the Boston Air Defense Sector, presents an award to Airman First Class Robert C. Copp, of the Saratoga Air Base, 656th (SAGE) who was named the outstanding airman of the year, 1963 at the base. Col. Carey presented the certificate yesterday afternoon at the local Base. The Saratoga Air Base is part of the Boston Sector. Airman Copp had received various gifts from several local merchants after being selected for the honor.

Red Wings Now Have Home Edge

Detroit (AP)—If home ice makes the difference, the Detroit Red Wings might have an edge over the Toronto Maple Leafs tonight in the third game of all-even Stanley Cup National Hockey League finals. The Leafs, who lost the series' second game on their rink at Toronto, scheduled a workout at Olympia Stadium eight hours before face-off time.

The Leafs, who lost the series' second game on their rink at Toronto, scheduled a workout at Olympia Stadium eight hours before face-off time. Coach Punch Imlach, plainly disappointed with his team's performance Tuesday night, is keeping the defending champions skating in practice between games of the best-of-seven playoffs.

The Leafs surged to a 3-3 tie with Detroit in the third period Tuesday night, only to suffer a 4-3 setback in overtime. Detroit's Larry Jeffrey flicked the winning goal past Johnny Bower in the sudden-death period.

The Red Wings, betting underdogs when the series started, are resting between games. Coach Sid Abel took his squad to a race track Monday to keep the players relaxed.

Detroit defensive star Bill Gadsby agrees with Abel's strategy.

"That Punch Imlach is nuts," Gadsby said.

He added that veteran Toronto players like George Armstrong, Red Kelly and Allan Stanley "can't take it — this business of working out every day. It's killing them."

The Leafs and Wings will play game No. 4 here Saturday, then return to Toronto for the fifth game of the playoffs.

'Monster Lake Fish' Caught in Ocean

Schenectady (AP)—Fisherman Charles Knize says almost nobody is speaking to him since he fooled fellow fishermen by telling them an odd-looking fish he caught came from a nearby lake.

Actually, the 51-pound fish, with turtle-like head, was a wolf fish he caught last weekend in the Atlantic Ocean, where it is common. But his hoax had people talking about the "Monster of Mariaville Lake."

Even his wife isn't speaking to him, he says.

Hawks Success Depends On Stopping Wilt

San Francisco (AP)—Gun-ning for the Western playoff championship of the National Basketball Association and the basket of cash going with it, the St. Louis Hawks battle the San Francisco Warriors tonight at the Cow Palace in the decider of their seven-game series.

Waiting in the wings to see who'll break the 3-3 tie are the Boston Celtics, the defending NBA champs who won the Eastern playoffs from the Cincinnati Royals a week ago.

The Celtics reportedly are incensed over the long wait. "Nonsense," says General Manager Bob Feerick of the Warriors. "The rest gives them the advantage over either of us who must play tonight and then be in Boston to open the finals on Saturday night. And the Celtics know it."

Originally the final Western game was scheduled Tuesday but the San Francisco Seals had the Cow Palace reserved that night for a Western Hock-

Sam Huff's World Is Uncertain

New York (AP)—Sam Huff is debating whether to play football with the Washington Redskins or make the textile business a full-time career.

The 29-year-old linebacker, traded to the Redskins by the New York Giants last week, has had one meeting with Bill McPeak, the general manager-coach of Washington.

"We had a long talk about football matters but money was not discussed," said Huff. "He told me why he wanted me. I told him my problems. I'll probably get together with him again next week."

Huff said he must make "the biggest decision of my life." The former West Virginia University star works for a textile firm on a part-time basis during the football season and regularly during the off season.

"I received several letters and phone calls since the deal," said Huff. "People come up to me on the street and tell me how sorry they are to see me go. It makes you feel good. I have no animosity toward the Giants. That is the type of business football is. It hurts when it comes. You never really expect it to happen to you."

121 Days For Pownal

Pownal, Vt.—The thundering beat of thoroughbred hoofs will be heard for a total of 121 racing programs at Green Mountain Park this year it was announced by General Manager Vincent J. Bartimo.

Thoroughbred racing under the lights will move into the multi-million dollar racing facility on Thursday evening, June 18 and will continue six nights per week until Monday, Sept. 7 marking a total of 70 nights of racing.

There will be no racing at Green Mountain Park on Sept. 8 thru Sept. 13. However, thoroughbred racing will be resumed on Monday, Sept. 14 and will be terminated on Wednesday, Nov. 11.

Sullivan, Willison, 23 Other Authors To Meet Public at Friday Reception

Twenty-five authors have accepted the invitation of the Southern Adirondack Library System to attend informal public reception to be held at the System Headquarters, 22 Whitney Place, Saratoga Springs, Friday from 7-9 in the evening.

The occasion has been planned in observance of National Library Week, and follows an Open House at the headquarters building during the afternoon. An invitation has been given to all to visit and tour the building in the afternoon and to meet the authors in the evening.

Among the writers who will attend the reception is George F. Willison, whose book on the Pilgrims and the Plymouth Colony, "Saints and Strangers," is a definitive study of that time and people. Willison lives outside Ballston Spa in the house formerly owned by Katherine Anne Porter.

Also attending will be Frank Sullivan, well known as one of the outstanding humorists of the United States. He has been a contributor to the "New Yorker" and has written in both the adult and juvenile fields. Sullivan is a native Saratogian.

Richard S. Allen of Round Lake, who is an authority on covered bridges has written extensively on the covered bridges of the eastern United States in his books "Covered Bridges of the Middle Atlantic States" and "Covered Bridges of the Northeast." Other writers on local history who will be attending the reception are Howard I. Becker of Rexford, Carl E. Lamb of Bolton Landing, Warder Cadbury of Blue Mountain Lake and Charles King of Sabbath Day Point.

Becker has written a history of Long Lake called "Inca-pah-co: Long Lake." Lamb contributed to the publication, "History of Warren County," published in 1963 by the Board of Supervisors. Cadbury is a research associate of the Adirondack Museum at Blue Mountain Lake, and King writes of Lake George history.

Mrs. Stella King, a trustee of the Southern Adirondack Library System, is the co-author with Ted Aber of "Tales from an Adirondack County," a compilation of stories and legends of Hamilton County. King is now working on an official history of Hamilton County, and will be at the reception Friday evening in the dual role of author and hostess.

Harry Chalmers will also be present, whose books on local history include "The Birth of the Erie Canal" and "The Last of the Nez Perce." Chalmers lives in Amsterdam.

Dr. Val H. Wilson, president of Skidmore College, plans to attend the reception for authors, and a number of writers from the Skidmore faculty will also be present. Included are Dean Edwin Moseley, whose book "Pseudonyms of Christ in the Modern Novel" has been recently published by the University of Pittsburgh Press, Dr. Miriam Benkowitz, Dr. Louise Dalby, Laurence Josephs, Dr. Edwin L. Levine, Dr. Ernst Waldinger and Dr. Henry Galant. Dr. Dalby has recently published a life of Leon Blum and Dr. Levine a life of Seneca, Warder Francis Green. Dr. Benkowitz has edited a number of scholarly bibliographies, and

Prof. Josephs and Dr. Waldinger are poets. Dr. Galant writes in French on political science.

Harry J. Carman, Dean Emeritus of Columbia College and Moore Collegiate Professor Emeritus of History at Columbia University, who makes his home in Schuylerville, will be present, as will L. R. Lewis of Hudson Falls. Dean Carman has written books on American history, including "A History of the American People" and "A Short History of New York State." Lewis writes on government. His book "Democracy and the Law" was recently published by the Public Affairs Press in Washington, D.C.

Two other area poets, Clyde Farrar of Warrensburg and Mrs. Helen Jones of Waterford, will also attend the reception. Mrs. Jones has published a sonnet sequence entitled "A Mother Goes to War," and Farrar a collection of poems entitled "Colored Rhythms."

Robert N. Meals, co-author of "Silicones," a summary of the technology and applications of silicones, and Elmer Rowley, author of "Geology and Mineralogy of the Adirondack Mountain Region," are writers in the field of science who plan to attend the reception. Meals is from Burnt Hills and Rowley from Glens Falls.

Many librarians are also authors, three of whom will be in the group Friday evening. Miss L. Marion Moshier, formerly director of Library Extension Division of the New York State Library, wrote "The Small Public Library," a classic in its field, and a "bible" for thousands of community librarians.

Mrs. Mabel Shorey, who has written a "History of Corinth," will also be present. Mrs. Shorey has been the librarian at Corinth for the past 36 years. Her remarkable record of service covers the entire life span of the Corinth Library, for she was an original trustee at the time of the establishment of the library.

Miss Irene Bowen of Schenectady will be one of the few writers of juvenile literature present. Miss Bowen writes mystery stories for young people. She is now children's librarian in the Altamont schools, and was formerly with the North Country Library System in Watertown.

Fine Arts Film Slated

"Three American Artists at Work" will be shown as a Fine Arts Cinema by the Skidmore College art department Tuesday at 7 p.m. in Room 103, Clark Street Studios. There is no admission charge.

The trio of American artists includes Hans Hofmann, Milton Avery and Jack Tworok, chairman of the Yale University art department. This feature film will be preceded by two whimsical reels — "Orange and Blue," a visual journey through a junkyard, and "La Petite Cuillere" (The Little Spoon).

Scout Council to Discuss Rural Troop Extensions

The Saratoga Council, Boy Scouts of America will hold a special meeting on Friday evening at the Scout Office in Ballston Spa 7:30 p.m. to hear the methods of helping boys become Scouts in small hamlets and open country.

The National Council, Boy Scouts of America, of New Brunswick New Jersey have assigned F. Marvin Barber, assistant to the National Director to visit the county scouters, many of whom are members of local granges, and rural fire departments, to bring information on how to develop cub packs, troops and posts in these areas and new programs which have proven of great interest to boys.

Barber was reared on a farm in Iowa and became a scout in Palo Alto County. He was a graduate of the 94th Training School for Scout Executives and has served in Western councils from 1943 to 1963.

He has experienced travel in areas where towns were 50 miles apart and had an outstanding Scouting program. The Saratoga County Council is considered to have a high density of rural boys attending its units and for the past five years has reached a large percentage of these boys.

Presently there is a need for troops in Rock City Falls, Bemis Heights, Middle Grove and West Milton Area. A survey taken reveals that 110 boys in these communities desire to be Scouts and Cubs and the local council Organization and Extension Committee will endeavor to reach sponsoring groups in these areas this year.
