Unprecedented Tribute Director Leaves Band to Its Own Devices

In a gesture of confidence and in tribute to participants at the area All State Concert held Saturday at the Queensbury High School, Howard Hovey of Riverhead, L.I., guest director of the band, walked off the stage and left the band to play alone.

Earlier in the presentation Hovey interrupted the program to make a brief speech, during which he gestured toward the band and stated, "These are not the glue sniffers and the hot rodders we hear and read about, these are the average students, working hard and conscientiously who spend their hours in creativeness."

Hovey emphasized he was accepting the applause on behalf of the students and following completion of the programmed numbers by the band, which resulted in the playing of "Semper Fidelis" as an encore. Hovey walked off the stage in the middle of the number and the band flawlessly presented the Sousa March. The action of Hovey was unprecedented in the history of area All State Concerts presented over the years, according to one of the officials.

The event opened with a welcome by John Boor of Queensbury and zone representative for the New York State School Music Association.

The program included the following selections:
Orchestra: "Tragic Overture," Brahms-Muller; "Temptation," Fred Brown-Arr., Isaac; "Marche Militaire Francais," Saint-Saens, Isaac; "Hay-Up, Hoe-Down," Grundman.

Choir: "O Bone Jesu," Palestrina-Scott; "Song of Shadows," Whitney; "Choose Something Like a Star," Thompson; "Cry

Out and Shout," Nystedi; "Out in the Fields," Dawson.
Band: "Toccata," Frescobaldi-Slocum; "Song of the Vagabonds," Friml-Bilik; "Overture in EB," Carter; "Semper Fidelis," Sousa.

Twenty-four schools were represented in the program. Representing Saratoga County schools were students from Ballston Spa, under the direction of John Benuscak, Richard Day and Laura Meade; Corinth, George Comings and Milton Wolven; Mechanicville, Curtis Finney and Ruth Shieib.

Thanksgiving Dinner Set By Seniors

A turkey dinner will be served at the Senior Citizens Center, 162 Circular St., on Thanksgiving. Mrs. Agnes Weisenburger, chairman, invites any senior citizen who would otherwise be spending the day alone.

There will be a nominal donation asked, and reservations should be made by Tuesday at 3 p.m. Calls may be made to Mrs. Weisenburger or the Senior Citizens Center.

Because of the holiday the Center will close for the weekend after the dinner reopening on Monday, Nov. 29.

The next Friday program will be on Dec. 3, when Miss Margaret L. Hays, member of the board of directors, will show travel slides and gave a talk at 1 p.m.

Plans are being made for a bus trip to Hellman's Theatre in Albany to see the film, "Sound of Music." Anyone interested should call the Senior Citizens Center, 584-1621, before Wednesday at 3 p.m. The trip is scheduled for Dec. 1 if there is a large enough response. The group will leave at 12:45 and return about 5:30 p.m.

The Senior Citizens Center is a member agency of the United Fund of Saratoga Inc.

Major Ski Center Set in South Corinth

Dr. Ernest C. Winslow, Corinth dentist, has leased the old Alpine Meadows Ski site, in South Corinth, and expects to open a brand new ski development there on Christmas weekend.

Biggest new feature of the development, on the site operated until two years ago by Ed Taylor, will be a large new building, adjoining the parking area, which will include a ski shop, cocktail lounge, and cafeteria. The approximately 132 feet long by 40 feet wide building will also have a central heating system, modern plumbing and an open fireplace. It will contain modern furniture.

The development will also include two new T-bar lifts with a capacity of 1200 persons an hour, three to four times as many as the lifts that operated there formerly. The lift on the lower slope will also be somewhat longer while the one on the upper slope will be about the same length. Parking lot capacity is also being increased.

The development is to be known as the Adirondack Ski

Center and is a strictly private operation. The site was idle last year after Taylor retired from the ski operation business two years ago.

The ski instructors, both experts, will be Bill Witkop of Saratoga and Ed Plummer of Schenectady. There will also be a National Ski Patrol, headed by Eddie Haran and John Worth, and which is expected to include at least six NSP certified skiers.

Winslow, a ski enthusiast himself, said that the new development is designed primarily for beginner, novice and intermediate skiers and every attempt will also be made to encourage family skiing. The Powder Mill trail, going to the top of the mountain, is rated a suitable test for experts, so that there will be graded trails for all classes.

Most of the skiing, however, will be on the open slopes, of which the center has one of the widest acreages in the east. The old trails are also being widened somewhat.

Future plans, Dr. Winslow said, include a chair lift to the top of the mountain.

The development will be open on the same schedule as the old Alpine Meadows, all of which equipment and facilities were dismantled two years ago and sold to another operation.

The ski center will be open on Saturdays, Sunday and holidays from 8:30 to 4:30. Dr. Winslow said there was also a possibility that the center will be open one day a week for school skiers. He said there were no plans at all for night skiing, as West Mountain adequately served that need.

Price will be $4.50 for adults and $2.50 for children under 12. This will, of course, include use of lifts. Dr. Winslow said that emphasis was on having a nominal price, because of the policy of encouraging entire families.

The owner also said that the Adirondack Ski Center will welcome business wherever it can get it, including by chartered buses from New York City. Taylor, it will be recalled, operated on the theory that he could get all the business he wanted from this region, so that it was not necessary to encourage chartered buses.

Dr. Winslow said that some construction was still going on although almost completed. He said, however, that even if they were ready to operate before Christmas, it was preferable to wait until the holiday season, so that the snow (expected) would have a good foundation. Incidentally, Dr. Winslow indicated that during the holidays, the center would also be open on weekends.
